

her ShadowGlen's Hold that Pose since I always seemed to just miss the money shot with "Poser." Poser proved to be a wonderful brood bitch and is primarily responsible for continuing my line with a number of lovely offspring.

Most of the pups in my lines seem to go and finish their titles by owner/handlers, which makes me incredibly proud of not only the dogs, but of their dedicated owners. Lynda Brogden-Burns is the owner that breeders dream about. She purchased a black Raven grandson (Poser x Gordy) from me seven years ago and named him Dylan, a clever anagram of her own name. Dylan has been exclusively owner trained and handled to all of his 25 AKC titles, making him multi Sporting Group winner Bah. Ch. ShadowGlen's Midnight Dylan UD, RE, MX, AXJ, XF, AXP, AJP, XFP, CC, TDI, CGC, Bah. CD, Bah. RA. In 2007 Dylan earned his Novice Jumpers (NAJ), Open Jumpers (OAJ) and Excellent Agility (AX) titles. He also passed the Therapy Dog International test (TDI) and accompanies Lynda to schools when presenting educational programs for children. Dylan is always a hit, hamming it up for the kids with his tricks! In August 2008, at just three and a half years of age, Dylan earned his AKC Utility Dog title (UD) in three out of six trials with two first places and a second place. Dylan still loves agility, is working on his Master Preferred titles, and has started tracking. But as Lynda says, most importantly, Dylan is a beloved member of her family.

Raven's genetic influence really came through in Poser, producing beautiful dogs who could really work! Sue Puffenbarger co-owns a yellow Poser x Slim Shady daughter with me, "Bree," ShadowGlen Ballyhoo O'Boyne JH, CGC, who also has tremendous drive and ability in the field. Sue has nicknamed her "the Terrorist" since her focus and drive are nonstop and Sue describes her as "a firecracker and a blast to train."

Probably the most rewarding combination I have done since the Willet x Milo breeding which produced Raven and Ceilidh, was when I doubled on Raven in a tight linebreeding of Gus to Poser. I wanted to see if Raven's genetic influence would remain strong by following the
